

2015 Quality Bicycle Products Community Impact Award

The Community Impact Award honors an individual whose dedication to high school mountain biking has resulted in positive impacts on youth, the community and the organization.

Steve Messer, SoCal High School Cycling League

We are very honored to present the Quality Bicycle Products Community Impact Award to Steve Messer. From the nomination submission for this award, “Steve does it all. He’s an inspiration. He’s indefatigable. He’s designed and built courses, mentored coaches and students, helped with administration, helped launch new teams, established partnerships between teams and IMBA chapters to do trail work, and more. This is just a sketch of his contributions. His commitment to the SoCal League is immense, and he still makes time for CORBA/IMBA advocacy leadership as well as general road bike advocacy. With 1000 Steves, mountain bike opportunities would be improved a thousand times over. Sadly, there’s only one of him.” It is with great pleasure that we present this award to the one and only Steve Messer!

“But the most gratifying aspect of all of this, is that I’m seeing the passion that I have for trails and our public lands, instilled in so many young people.”
